

AN AWFUL CRIME.

Wm. Jennings Charged With Removing Spikes and Bolts From a Central Rail.—Now in Jail.

Passenger train No. 3 on the Central road is due here at 1:40 in the morning, and after leaving Amherst Junction no stops are made until the train reaches this city. This train is run very fast, and between Stockton and the Plover river, one mile east of the yard, there is a slight down grade all of the way. At no place on the line does the fast express run any faster than over the territory above described. Before reaching the Plover bridge, Tuesday morning, Engineer Schell noticed someone waving a signal to stop, and he did so as quickly as possible, but the train could not be brought to a stop until after it had passed over the bridge to the west. Conductor Buckstaff and other train hands then jumped off to ascertain what was the matter, and were met by Wm. Jennings, who stated that three tramps had removed spikes and bolts from one of the rails on the east side of the river, that he had got into a fight with the tramps and after driving them off had signaled the train, hoping to stop it before reaching the spot. Sheriff Wheelock was aboard the train, being on his way home from Waukesha, and he with the conductor and others went back to the place where Jennings claimed the foul work was done. It proved only too true, and after a short stop, the sheriff, together with Brakeman Grumblin, volunteered to remain and fix up the track while the train came on to this city. An examination showed that all of the spikes on the outside of a rail, on the north side of the track, had been removed, together with three of the four bolts which pass through the fish plates, where the rails are joined. The rail was still in place, with the nails and bolts resting upon the ties, but how it remained there, with nothing to hold it, is a mystery, one of the unexplainable works of Divine Providence.

Here were also found three wrenches, a monkey wrench, a chisel and track bar, tools that are used in track and railroad work and which had been stolen from the Central company. At this point there is a fill of from twenty to twenty-five feet. The train consisted of a baggage car, smoking car, two first-class coaches and two sleepers. These cars were all well filled with passengers, from one to two hundred people being on board, and if the engine and cars had left the track and gone over this high embankment, it is doubtful if a single person would have been left to tell the tale. Who can imagine the horror that would have followed? Blood in the veins of one who has a single spark of humanity left, must almost chill when he contemplates the terrible result!

As the train started away from the bridge after its stop, Sheriff Wheelock noticed two men on the rear platform of a car. At the point of a revolver he compelled them to jump off, thinking they might have had something to do with this dastardly work, but they proved their identity and were allowed to go. Jennings' story is to the effect that at a late hour in the night he noticed the switch-light at the east end of the yard, near the stock yards, was turned the wrong way. He made an investigation, only to find three tramps, whom he followed toward the Plover river, believing that they were bent upon mischief. After crossing the Plover, he came upon them doing the work above described, and in the fight that followed his coat was nearly torn from his body, while the tramps fared still worse. After breaking his crutch (Jennings is a cripple, who walks with the aid of a crutch) upon the head of one of them, the three train wreckers were forced to fly, leaving behind some of their clothes. These clothes were found near the track. About this time the west bound passenger train came in sight, and Jennings made the attempt to stop it, taking off his colored shirt and holding a burning match behind it so as to quicker attract the attention of the engineer. His story, however, was not believed, and he was taken in charge by Sheriff Wheelock. Thereafter a warrant was sworn out charging Jennings with having wilfully, maliciously and unlawfully taken out, pulled and removed the spikes and bolts as above set forth. The place where this work was done was just 375 feet east of the bridge, on one of the highest embankments on this division of the Central road.

Jennings was arraigned before Judge Murat yesterday afternoon, and after a plea of not guilty, the examination was set for next Saturday forenoon at 9 o'clock. Bail was placed at $500, but this he was unable to give, and will remain in jail. Wm. Jennings has lived here for about six years, is a married man, with a family, residing in the 5th ward. He clerked for the H. D. McCulloch Co. for a time, and thereafter while employed by the Central company, some three years ago, met with an accident, from which he has been a cripple ever since. It is understood that the proof that will be introduced to show his guilt is very strong, he being seen going up and down the track several times during the night, while the only footprints about the place where the rail was tampered with, were the ones made by him.

Well Attended Schools.
Our schools opened on Monday morning. In most of the departments of our public schools, the attendance was larger than ever before on the first day, and as has always been the custom, there will be a gradual increase for several weeks. Last year the High School attendance on the first day was greater than ever before in the history of the city, and on Monday there was an increase over one year ago. Within a month this department will be filled to overflowing. The same can be said of all departments, except possibly those in the First ward, where the sanitary condition of the school is such that a number of parents have decided to not allow their little ones to attend.

BOTH ARE DISCHARGED.
Unable to Show Proof in the Alleged Poisoning Case, and Both Prisoners Discharged.

Last week an account of an alleged poisoning case in the town of Stevens Point and the arrest of Jacob Wisniewski and Mrs. Andrew Michalski, charged with the crime, was given in these columns. The latter was the wife of the party supposed to be poisoned. The following testimony was heard by the coroner's jury on Tuesday forenoon, and thereafter the jury rendered a verdict that they find no evidence of poisoning, and that the deceased came to his death from causes unknown:

Peter Ludzinski, a brother-in-law of the deceased Michalski, testified that he had a dream that the Sheriff had taken Mrs. Michalski, and the woman had confessed to poisoning her husband. He told another party of his dream. Don't know how Michalski came to his death. Was there when man died. Got there just before death. He was quiet. For a day or two before he talked to me about burning sensation in his stomach.

John Pliska gave unimportant testimony, and J. W. Winkler was next sworn. After Michalski had been buried, Winkler said the woman asked him if body was to be taken up. She further said if "these American doctors" took body up they will find poison. Woman appeared frightened when they talked of digging up corpse.

Rev. J. H. J. pastor of the church at Mill Creek, was next put on the stand, and stated that in his opinion man wasn't poisoned, but that if he had been, the witness thought Mrs. Michalski had nothing to do with it.

Casimir Tizinski testified concerning the rumors about the manner of Michalski's death but knew nothing personally.

Mrs. A. Michalski, wife of the deceased, was next called, and testified in substance as follows: Wondered what Sheriff came to house for. Was crying. Didn't think Sheriff was going to dig up corpse. Don't remember of talking to Winkler about it. Didn't say anything about American doctors. My sister, Mrs. Ludzinski and Mr. Ludzinski and another party were present when my husband died. He died very quietly. We had no doctor. We had no medicine and gave him none.

More Locals.
—The Humane Society will meet at Temperance Hall, next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. A general invitation is extended to all to be present.

—Aug. Dempke, the Third street baker, wishes to inform the public that from this date he will sell bread as follows: Twenty loaves for $1.00; five loaves for 25 cents, and one loaf for 8 cents.

—The Citizens National bank will be removed to its new quarters this week. They expect to have everything in readiness by the last of the week, and at the latest will be ready for business at the new stand on Monday morning.

—Prof. Pray, the Normal School president, will occupy the A. J. Agnew residence, corner of Wisconsin and Pine streets. His son and daughter are now in the city, and the balance of the family will be here in a day or two.

—Spencer was threatened with destruction by fire yesterday. Help was asked from this city and the steam fire engine sent up in charge of C. H. Grant and Jas. Gardner, accompanied by a number of other citizens. They worked during the afternoon, putting the fire out so that there was no further danger, and then returned to the city.

DEADLY FOREST FIRES.

Much Property Destroyed in This State and Many People Perish in Minnesota.

The people of the extreme northern part of this state have suffered greatly on account of the terrible forest fires that have completely wiped out several towns within the past few days. While the property loss is enormous, amounting into the millions of dollars, but few if any lives were lost in Wisconsin. In Minnesota, however, the situation is different, the latest estimate placing the number of those burned to death at 364. At Hinckley, Minn., the number reported missing is 200, and up to Monday night 194 bodies had been picked up at that point. Sandstone, another Minnesota town that was wiped off the earth, reports a loss of 62, Miller 12, and Pokegama 28, besides nearly sixty-five at other points. Words cannot tell the story of death and destruction that is revealed to the traveler on the St. Paul & Duluth road from Mission Creek to two miles above the little town of Miller, or Sandstone Junction. The awfulness of the desolation which strikes upon the eye of the observer as he reaches the camp which was once the town of Hinckley, is still more strongly impressed in his vision as he journeys northward. Monday morning the smoke lifted, revealing a landscape bare and black, the few standing trees being charred to a height of forty feet, while the ground was of that peculiar tint of brown sand mixed with gunpowder, for the grass had burned even to the roots. Here and there in the bleak and dreary stretches of country in what is now a great lone land, was seen the body of a deer, whose feet had not been able to outrun the flames, or of a human being who had been absolutely powerless against the grim destroyer.

The streets of Sandstone are only lined by sand heaps and ashes. In these lines laid forty bodies scattered at random and twenty-two more were found afterwards in the outskirts of town and along the hollows and marshes towards the river banks. One of the marvelous circumstances of the fire was the escape of so many cattle and horses. Many were absolutely unscathed, though no one can tell how they escaped the ordeal. Others were pitifully burned and steps have been taken to put them out of their misery. An estimate of the population in the burned Minnesota towns is as follows: Hinckley, 1,000; Sandstone, 300; Mission Creek, 100; Brook Park, or Pokegama, 113; Partidge, 100.

At Marengo, Wis., between Glidden and Ashland, there are only two small buildings left standing. The long trestle work of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad was among the first to go, and only the twisted rails lie in tortuous lines, marking the place where the immense piles once stood. The trestle was nearly fifty feet high and spanned nearly a mile of territory. Scores of settlers near Ashland are left without the merest pittance to provide themselves shelter. Incendiaries have been at work in Washburn endeavoring to aid in the general conflagration. Five have been arrested and thrown in jail. Attempts were made Sunday night to fire the Omaha depot at Ashland, but were discovered in time to prevent loss. Owing to burned bridges Washburn and Bayfield are now receiving their mails by boat from Ashland, ferries carrying the pouches across Chequamegon Bay.

A Welcome Shower.
This immediate section was visited by a most welcome rain shortly after one o'clock, last Monday afternoon. The rain fell quite heavily for from ten to fifteen minutes, and during the afternoon one or two slight showers followed. As this was the first rain we had had for six or seven weeks, it brought much good cheer. It seems, however, that the storm was local in its full sense, as its scope extended only a couple of miles south and about the same distance to the north. Forest and marsh fires were checked wherever the rain fell, and the atmosphere was immediately cleared of the heavy smoke that has caused so much inconvenience and distress for some time.

Faculty Now Complete.
The faculty for the Stevens Point Normal School is now complete, and in addition to those heretofore mentioned are Garry E. Culver, who will have charge of the natural sciences, he being a graduate of the White-water Normal and a former professor at the State University, and Joseph V. Collins, who will teach mathematics. Mr. Collins graduated from the University at Wooster, Ohio, and has been a professor of mathematics at Miami University, Ohio. Miss Bertha S. Pitman will teach Latin and German. She is a graduate of the Wisconsin University and late assistant in the High School at Madison. Miss Sophia Linton, late teacher of music in the public schools at Jackson, Mich., will have charge of the vocal music department, and Miss Jennie Rebecca Faddis, recently teacher in the primary department of the State Normal, Peru, Neb., will be teacher in the primary grade. The corps of teachers throughout is an excellent one.

Dissolution and a New Firm.
The grocery firm of Jauch & Gerdes, located at the corner of Main and N. Third streets, are taking an inventory preparatory to a dissolution. Mr. Jauch will continue the business at the present stand, while Mr. Gerdes will step out. The latter gentleman will then form a copartnership with his brother-in-law, Richard J. Breitenstein, of Stockton. They have rented the Iverson building, recently vacated by J. L. Jensen & Co., and as soon as the goods can be purchased and brought here will open up a staple and fancy grocery establishment. Mr. Breitenstein has been engaged in the potato business at Stockton for the past few years, and the new firm of Gerdes & Breitenstein will also make this one of their specialties during the coming fall and winter months. They have a good stand, are well located, and will no doubt meet with the excellent success that they deserve.

Prisoners Sentenced.
Geo. Smith and Jas. Conway, two young men and both strangers in this locality, who were arrested for entering a Central employes car and stealing clothes therefrom, were brought before Judge Murat this forenoon and entered a plea of guilty. The former was sentenced to six months and the latter to one year at Waupun, the tenth day to be solitary. Both took their sentence very calmly. They were taken to State's Prison by Sheriff Wheelock today.

Painless Dentistry.
Dr. J. W. Campbell, Dentist, of 614 Goldsmith bldg., Milwaukee, Wis., has arranged to be at the Curran House, Stevens Point, the FIRST SATURDAY AFTER THE SECOND MONDAY in each month for the practice of dentistry. The doctor comes with a painless method of extracting teeth, and will take out from one to a full set in less than three minutes, without pain or danger to the patient and without their having the slightest knowledge of the operation. The doctor has used this method for 14 years in constant practice, with most happy results. It is conceded by all Dental Colleges to be the ideal method of extracting teeth, as it has no taste or odor, and does not sicken the patient. There is no extra charge for its use, and where plates are to be inserted there is no extra charge for extracting teeth. Natural looking sets of teeth made to fit the first time. sp5tf

The deadlock in the Republican Senatorial Convention Broken on Friday.

When THE GAZETTE went to press, last Wednesday afternoon, it was predicted that it would take some time to break the deadlock that had then existed in the Republican Senatorial convention since the day before. This prediction proved true, as did also that in which it was stated that the choice of the convention would ultimately be the Portage county candidate, Dr. John Phillips, of this city. The deadlock was broken immediately after the convention was called to order, Friday afternoon, and was upon the 28th ballot. Up to this time each ballot remained the same, viz: Phillips, 8, Dale 7 and Coon 7. The last ballot was as follows: Dr. Phillips, 15; Dr. Dale, 7. The change was caused by the entire Waukesha county delegation swinging into line for Dr. Phillips. The result was a complete surprise to the Waupaca men, and they naturally felt sore for not being informed of what was going to take place at this time, and which had been decided on after the hour of adjournment in the forenoon. They were thus prevented from jumping upon the "loaded wagon," but did the best they could under the circumstances, and moved to make the nomination of Dr. Phillips unanimous. This was carried. The successful nominee was then brought before the convention, and in a few words thanked them for the honor conferred. A senatorial committee consisting of Ole C. Sether, of Waupaca, D. E. Frost, of Portage, and P. Mitchell, of Waukesha, was appointed, after which the chairman, Geo. W. Ghoca, thanked the convention for the many courtesies shown him, and the convention adjourned.

Dr. John Phillips was born in Richmond, Vt., Nov. 4th, 1823, and is therefore nearly 71 years of age, but well preserved. He came to Wisconsin in 1846, and has lived in Stevens Point since the fall of 1848; or forty-six years. All of this time he has successfully practiced medicine. He was a member of the Wisconsin Assembly from 1860 to 1864, and served for a number of years as a member of the Board of Normal School Regents. He has also held other offices of trust, being upon the Board of Education and Board of Supervisors. The Dr. is a widower, and has two daughters, Mrs. L. J. Rhoades, of Plainfield, and Miss Hattie Phillips.

Was a Notorious Horse Thief.
A man named B. F. Landis visited Stevens Point a few weeks ago. He was selling cigars at the time, having a wholesale cigar and tobacco house at Oshkosh, and expressed a desire to remove his business to this city, if a suitable location could be secured. In this he was unsuccessful. Last Wednesday Landis was arrested by Ohio officials, who were armed with requisition papers, and taken back to that state. He is one of the most daring horse thieves in the country, having been arrested in 1884 for that crime. While confined in the county jail awaiting trial, he escaped by sawing the bars of his cell, after only thirty days confinement. Search was immediately instituted for him, but no trace was found until 1888, when it was discovered that he was in the Ohio state prison serving a five years' sentence for horse stealing committed in Canton, in Stark county. After serving two years he was released on parole for the remainder of his term. This enabled him to avoid arrest on the former charge as he was still in charge of the state officials. In 1891 the county officers were prepared to arrest him, but by some means he evaded arrest and fled from the state. For three years no trace was found of him, but the Ohio officials, with great persistency, continued the search, and they finally located him at Oshkosh.

Was a Notorious Horse Thief.
A man named B. F. Landis visited Stevens Point a few weeks ago. He was selling cigars at the time, having a wholesale cigar and tobacco house at Oshkosh, and expressed a desire to remove his business to this city, if a suitable location could be secured. In this he was unsuccessful. Last Wednesday Landis was arrested by Ohio officials, who were armed with requisition papers, and taken back to that state. He is one of the most daring horse thieves in the country, having been arrested in 1884 for that crime. While confined in the county jail awaiting trial, he escaped by sawing the bars of his cell, after only thirty days confinement. Search was immediately instituted for him, but no trace was found until 1888, when it was discovered that he was in the Ohio state prison serving a five years' sentence for horse stealing committed in Canton, in Stark county. After serving two years he was released on parole for the remainder of his term. This enabled him to avoid arrest on the former charge as he was still in charge of the state officials. In 1891 the county officers were prepared to arrest him, but by some means he evaded arrest and fled from the state. For three years no trace was found of him, but the Ohio officials, with great persistency, continued the search, and they finally located him at Oshkosh.

The deadlock in the Republican Senatorial Convention Broken on Friday.

When THE GAZETTE went to press, last Wednesday afternoon, it was predicted that it would take some time to break the deadlock that had then existed in the Republican Senatorial convention since the day before. This prediction proved true, as did also that in which it was stated that the choice of the convention would ultimately be the Portage county candidate, Dr. John Phillips, of this city. The deadlock was broken immediately after the convention was called to order, Friday afternoon, and was upon the 28th ballot. Up to this time each ballot remained the same, viz: Phillips, 8, Dale 7 and Coon 7. The last ballot was as follows: Dr. Phillips, 15; Dr. Dale, 7. The change was caused by the entire Waukesha county delegation swinging into line for Dr. Phillips. The result was a complete surprise to the Waupaca men, and they naturally felt sore for not being informed of what was going to take place at this time, and which had been decided on after the hour of adjournment in the forenoon. They were thus prevented from jumping upon the "loaded wagon," but did the best they could under the circumstances, and moved to make the nomination of Dr. Phillips unanimous. This was carried. The successful nominee was then brought before the convention, and in a few words thanked them for the honor conferred. A senatorial committee consisting of Ole C. Sether, of Waupaca, D. E. Frost, of Portage, and P. Mitchell, of Waukesha, was appointed, after which the chairman, Geo. W. Ghoca, thanked the convention for the many courtesies shown him, and the convention adjourned.

Dr. John Phillips was born in Richmond, Vt., Nov. 4th, 1823, and is therefore nearly 71 years of age, but well preserved. He came to Wisconsin in 1846, and has lived in Stevens Point since the fall of 1848; or forty-six years. All of this time he has successfully practiced medicine. He was a member of the Wisconsin Assembly from 1860 to 1864, and served for a number of years as a member of the Board of Normal School Regents. He has also held other offices of trust, being upon the Board of Education and Board of Supervisors. The Dr. is a widower, and has two daughters, Mrs. L. J. TARIFF BILL IS A LAW.

PRESIDENT DON'T SIGN BUT GIVES HIS REASONS

In a Letter Addressed to Representative Catehings—A Veto Would Imply a Separation from His Party That He Can Not Permit.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The senate tariff bill is law. It is law without the president's signature, however, having gone into effect at midnight last night, because the executive had made no public sign during the ten days which he is given to make up his mind as to signing bills. A message to congress stating that he has concluded not to sign a bill is not necessary from the executive unless he has concluded to veto one. But Cleveland has gone on record as to the reasons for his non-action in a letter to Representative Catehings, which is given below, Catehings consenting to its publication in view of its public character and importance. It is dated "Executive Mansion, Washington, Aug. 27, 1894."

"MY DEAR SIR:—Since the conversation I had with you and Mr. Clark, of Alabama, a few days ago in regard to my action upon the tariff bill now before me I have given the subject further and most serious consideration. The result is I am more settled than ever in the determination to allow the bill to become a law without my signature. When the formulation of legislation which it was hoped would embody Democratic ideas of tariff reform was lately entered upon by congress nothing was further from my anticipation than a result which I could not promptly and enthusiastically endorse. It is, therefore, with a feeling of the utmost disappointment that I submit to a denial of this privilege.

Some Things He Cannot Endorse. "I did not claim to be better than the masses of my party, nor do I wish to avoid any responsibility which, on account of the passage of this law, I ought to bear as a member of the Democratic organization; neither will I permit myself to be separated from my party to such an extent as might be implied by my veto of tariff legislation which, though disappointing, is still chargeable to Democratic effort. But there are provisions in this bill which are not in line with honest tariff reform, and it contains inconsistencies and crudities which ought not to appear in tariff laws or laws of any kind. Besides there were, as you and I well know, incidents accompanying the passage of the bill through congress which made every sincere reformer, unhappy, while influences surrounded it in its latter stages and interfered with its final construction which ought not to be recognized or tolerated in Democratic tariff reform councils.

Better Than the McKinley Bill. "And yet, notwithstanding all its vicissitudes and all the bad treatment it received at the hands of pretended friends, it presents a vast improvement of existing conditions. It will certainly lighten many tariff burdens that now rest heavily upon the people. * * * I take my place with the rank and file of the Democratic party who believe in tariff reform and who know what it is, who refuse to accept the results embodied in this bill as the close of the war, who are not blinded to the fact that the lively of Democratic tariff reform has been stolen and worn in the service of Republican protection, and who have marked the pieces where the devil's blight of treason has blasted the councils of the brave in their hour of might.

"The trusts and combinations—the communions of self—whose machinations have prevented us from reaching the success we deserve should not be forgotten or forgiven. We shall recover from our astonishment at their exhibition of power, and if then the question is forced upon us whether they shall submit to the free legislative will of the people's representatives, or shall dictate the laws which the people must obey, we will accept and settle that issue as one involving the integrity and safety of American institutions."

One Point of Certainty. "After declaring his love for the Democracy and pride in its sturdy and persistent enforcement of its principles, which he hopes will be shown in the passage of the free list bills passed by the house, he goes on: 'I can't be mistaken as to the necessity of free raw materials as the foundation of logical and sensible tariff reform. The extent to which this is recognized in the legislation already secured is one of its encouraging and redeeming features; but it is vexatious to recall that while free coal and iron ore have been denied a letter of the secretary of the treasury discloses the fact that both might have been made free by the annual surrender of only about $100,000 of unnecessary revenue.

"I am sure that there is a common habit of underestimating the importance of free raw materials in tariff legislation and of regarding them as only related to concessions to be made to our manufacturers. The truth is, their influence is so far-reaching that if disregarded a complete and beneficent scheme of tariff reform cannot be successfully inaugurated. When we give to our manufacturers free raw materials we unshakably American enterprise and ingenuity, and these will open the doors of foreign markets to the reception of our wares and give opportunity for the continuous and remunerative employment of American labor.

"With materials cheapened by their freedom from tariff charges the cost of their product must be correspondingly decreased. Thereupon justice and fairness to the consumer would demand that the manufacturers be obliged to submit to such a readjustment and modification of the tariff on their finished goods as would secure to the people the benefit of the reduced cost of their manufacture and shield the consumer against the exactions of inordinate profits.

"The millions of our countrymen who have fought bravely and well for tariff reform should be exhorted to continue the struggle, boldly challenging to open warfare and constantly guarding against treachery and half-heartedness in their camp. Tariff reform will not be settled until it is fairly and honestly settled in the interest and to the benefit of a patient and long-suffering people. Yours very truly, GROVER CLEVELAND."

End of a Long Struggle. "And so, as stated above, the tariff bill which the president would have been glad to be able to sign, has gone into effect without his signature. The placing of the bill upon the statute books ended one of the longest and most remarkable struggles in the parliamentary history of the government. It was practically a year ago that the compilation of the new tariff was commenced. The extraordinary session of congress was called Aug. 7, 1893, for the purpose of repealing the Sherman silver purchasing law.

Two weeks later the ways and means committee of the house, with Wilson of West Virginia as chairman, was appointed and almost immediately the work of framing the Democratic tariff reform measure began. Months were spent in the preparation, and it was not reported until after the holidays during the regular session beginning in December. For three weeks it was debated in the house, passing that body Feb. 1 by a vote of 204 to 140. Seventeen in use Democrats voted against it. The bill went to the senate, and after being considered until March 20 was reported, greatly changed from the house bill.

The debate, which began in the senate April 2, lasted until July 3, when the bill passed by a vote of 39 to 31. The crisis occurred when the bill reached conference. On Aug. 13 the house yielded and accepted the senate bill in toto. Two days afterward, Wednesday, Aug. 15, it went to the president, and last night, at the expiration of the constitutional ten days (Sundays not counted), it became a law without Cleveland's approval.

DIDN'T TURN BACK THE CLOCK. Congress Adjourns on Time to the Minute for a Feature.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—For the first time in many years the clocks in the legislative chambers in the Capitol pointed to the correct time when the two presiding officers brought down their gavels and declared adjournment. For many years it has been the custom to turn back the hands so that they would show that the adjournment was reached at the hour set in the concurrent resolution, although as a matter of fact it would be thirty minutes or more later.

That was because there was a rush of business at the end of the session. The president would come down to the Capitol so as to be on hand to sign bills in short order. But this time the two houses were practically only waiting on the president, and he having permitted the tariff bill to become a law without his signature the houses were ready to adjourn "at the drop of the hat." So that when the clocks pointed to the true time, 3 p. m., "trap" went the two gavels and the session was at an end. There were crowds in the galleries in both houses, but no incident out of the common.

HEAVY LOSSES BY FIRE.

Cranberry Growers in Wisconsin Suffer Misfortune.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 28.—A special to The Evening Wisconsin from Cranberry Center says the losses of cranberry growers in that vicinity from fire have been enormous. In about Mather, where there have been many acres of marsh and from the railway station thousands of barrels have been shipped yearly, there is almost nothing left.

The peat has burned down to the sand in places to the depth of two feet. The peat formed great beds of hot coals which were ever ready to brighten up when fanned by the breezes. Wildfires took burning coals into the air and carried them over the heads of the fire fighters and deposited them twenty, thirty or forty rods away. Many of the tracts of land will never be used for growing cranberries again and as they are almost worthless for any other purpose will for the time revert to the county as useless.

STORM AND DELUGE.

A Texas Town Visited by Floods and Several Lives Are Lost.

UVALDE, Tex., Sept. 1.—A terrible catastrophe has befallen this thriving town and there is mourning in many households. The calamity was entirely unexpected. The treacherous Leona river, swollen to a raging torrent by recent rains, rushed without a moment's warning down upon the town, submerging and wrecking many houses and drowning a number of people. In this arid section such destruction by the elements has never before been chronicled. In the excitement it is not definitely known how many have been drowned. Among the bodies that have been identified are: Mrs. Joe Watch, Miss Mattie Edwards, child of Mr. Maley, two Mexicans.

BOILER OF A THRESHER EXPLODES

Three Men Killed and a Fourth Very Badly Scalded.

FERRIS FALLS, Minn., Aug. 31.—The engine of Knudson and Thorsen, who were threshing in Stony Brook, Grant county, exploded. Hans Knudson, one of the proprietors, was engineer. He was badly crushed and died instantly. His father, Knute Knudson, was firing and the top of his head was blown off, and his brains scattered. Tollof Anderson was feeding. A piece of the boiler went through his thigh, injuring him so that he died in four hours. Hans Thorsen, aged 22, one of the owners, was badly scalded, but may survive.

What as Food for Stock.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The agricultural department has issued a bulletin on wheat as food for stock, which says: "When wheat and corn are the same price per bushel, it is preferable to feed wheat and sell corn. First, because wheat weighs 7 per cent. heavier per bushel than corn; secondly, because wheat is weight for weight an equally good grain for fattening animals and better for growing animals; and thirdly, because there is much less value in fertilizing elements removed from the farm in corn than in wheat." It should be fed at first in small quantities.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Wants Divorce.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—A Paris dispatch says: Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt has under consideration the advisability of instituting proceedings for divorce. The difficulties, it is said, nearly reached a climax some months ago, when the party on the yacht Valiant in the Mediterranean separated. About ten weeks ago Cornelius Vanderbilt went to London to stop further proceedings, but was unsuccessful. Mrs. Vanderbilt is represented by Colonel William Jay, of New York, who is now in Germany.

Battle with a Burglar.

HARTFORD, Aug. 28.—The house of Michael Dixon at Pequonnock was entered by a burglar. A fierce struggle ensued between Mr. and Mrs. Dixon and the burglar, who proved to be Richard Dixon, Mr. Dixon's younger brother. He stole two gold watches and $2 in money and was afterward arrested at East Granby. Dixon was arraigned and bound over to the September criminal term of the superior court.

RELIEF TO THE PEOPLE.

BENEFITS OF DEMOCRATIC RULE CLEARLY SHOWN.

Comparison of the Records Regarding State Taxes—What Counties Paid and Received Back Under Rusk, Hoard and Peck—A Statement Based on Figures and Not on Fancy—Another Illustration of the Ignorance of the Republican Press Regarding State Affairs.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 29.—When discussing the question of state taxes the Republican press exhibits a degree of ignorance both appalling in magnitude and reprehensible for its partisan bias.

While the records of the state are open to public inspection and the books of record in every county clerk's office in the state contain the history of our public affairs, they will not take the pains to consult them for information which ought to be familiar to every one who ventures to discuss the question at all. They repeatedly assert that during Rusk's administration no state tax was levied and that during the first three years of Democratic rule the state tax levy was increased for each succeeding year. The fact is that no state tax has been levied for general state expenses since 1883 by any party. An educational tax has been levied by all parties for the past thirty years. Prior to 1883 no state tax was levied for the support of the common schools of the state. By chapter 287 of the laws of 1883 a tax of 1 mill on the dollar was levied for common schools purpose. The proceeds of this tax is distributed annually to the various school districts of the state according to the number of scholars contained therein. The effect of this law was to relieve school districts of the necessity of levying so large a district school tax as was formerly found necessary. It also served to equalize the tax burden by compelling the richer counties to help maintain the schools of the poorer ones.

TAX FIXED BY LAW.

As this tax together with the annual levy provided by law for the state university is fixed at a certain percentage on the total valuation of the state, any increase of such valuation will result in an increased amount to be returned to the counties for the support of the common schools and to maintain the university. An increase of the state tax levy under these laws results from and is an incident of the increased valuation of the state. The only method by which state taxes can be reduced by the administration officers of the state while the valuation of the taxable property in the state remains unchanged is by transferring funds derived from other sources to the common school fund and to the university and normal school fund income and apply them to the support of these institutions. This has been done this year for the first time in the history of Wisconsin. The valuation of the state as determined by the state board of assessment for 1894 is $900,000,000. On this valuation under the law of 1883, above referred to, a common school tax of $600,000 must be levied or an equivalent sum supplied from the general fund. The state university tax on the same valuation at 2.40 mills on the dollar, as provided by law would require $135,000 more. Of the surplus now on hand in the general fund $232,570 has been applied to meet these two charges. In this manner the state tax levy for 1894 has been reduced three quarters of a million dollars, while the revenues which go to maintain the educational interests of the state remain unimpaired.

WHAT DEMOCRATS HAVE DONE.

To illustrate the effect of this policy a comparison is here given of the amounts levied against four counties in 1883, 1890 and 1894, the last years of the Rusk, Hoard and Peck administrations, together with the amounts returned to the same counties during the same years for the support of their common schools. The ones given are representative of the larger, middle and small classed counties of the state.

DOOR COUNTY. Tax levy. Returned to county. 1883. $24,041.41 $8,430.53 1890. 32,414.45 12,763.30 1894. 838.80 9,073.83 Savings in 1894 over Rusk's last year. $3,700.00 Savings in 1894 over Hoard's last year. 3,027.66

MILWAUKEE COUNTY. Tax levy. Returned to county. 1883. $162,721.25 $94,716.69 1890. 125,232.42 90,543.85 1894. 70,000.00 82 128,612.82 Savings in 1894 over Rusk's last year. $147,612.94 " " Hoard's " 127,500.00

ROCK COUNTY. Tax levy. Returned to county. 1883. $41,207.70 $19,063.22 1890. 33,678.90 18,323.67 1894. 9,104.00 20,249.15 Savings in 1894 over Rusk's last year. $33,379.72 " " Hoard's " 26,500.38

WINNEBAGO COUNTY. Tax levy. Returned to county. 1883. $22,041.41 $25,512.70 1890. 26,277.53 22,903.04 1894. 6,868.00 25,374.54 Savings in 1894 over Rusk's last year. $28,910.25 " " Hoard's " 22,110.13

The following statement shows the tax levies for the years given together with the amounts returned to the counties for common and free high school purposes.

Tax levy. Returned to counties. 1883. $1,030,511.94 $791,355.44 1890. 911,061.42 820,670.83 1894. 290,000.00 908,302.17

This shows that compared with 1883 the year 1894 shows a gain of $974,253.67 to the taxpayers of the state.

Compared with 1890 a saving of $707,76 is shown.

The expenditures for the maintenance of the normal schools and the state university for these years were: 1883, $391,114.90; 1890, $292,124.12; 1894, $650,153.37. The excess expenditures for a period of ten months of the fiscal year of 1894 for university and normal school purposes over the same expenditures in 1883 were $228,038.47; over 1890, $367,029.25.

Adding these excess expenditures for educational purposes to the savings, given above, we find that the net gain to the people affected by the administration officers of this state for the year 1894 over 1883, Rusk's last year, is $1,362,297.14; over 1890, Hoard's last year, the gain is $1,154,812.1.

REPUBLICANS EASILY ROUTED.

All this could easily have been learned by the Republican papers—and saved them many an uncomfortable quarter of an hour—had they cared to take the trouble to investigate it. It is only another instance of their dense ignorance or willful neglect of state affairs. It is becoming noticeable to the reading public that every time they venture an attack on state affairs they are invariably routed. There is no doubt that this will have a great effect on the campaign this fall.

There is already outcropping of evidence that people are beginning to feel that a party which keeps all its promises and builds up a record absolutely unassailable by its bitterest opponents is a good party to keep in power, and this feeling is increasing.

WAITE IS ACCUSED.

NOT IMPLICATED IN THE LIKENS LETTER BUSINESS.

Simply Read a Screen That Was Handed Him Without Knowing Where It Came From; and Did Not Think It Important, Either—Miss Dwyer and the Other Two Held to the Grand Jury.

DENVER, Sept. 1.—Governor Waite was the first witness heard on the second day of the trial of the cause in which the governor is charged with being participant in the violation of the privacy of the mail. The court room, as might have been expected with the governor on the witness stand in such a case, was packed, everybody anxious to hear what the governor had to say. He repudiated any knowledge of the way the letter came into the hands of the officials. He declared he had never had anything to do in the matter whatever, and was greatly surprised when he learned that he had been charged with an unlawful act. He never had any conversation with any person for the purpose of entering into a conspiracy for any purpose.

Simply Read It and Handed It Back.

"The letter in question was handed to me to read," he said, "and I had to take it in my hands to do so. I immediately returned it to the person who handed it to me, and this is my entire and only connection with it. It might have been a forgery for all I know, and it did not attract my attention to any extent, as I considered it of little importance. Chief of Police Armstrong is most certainly mistaken in his statement that he got the letter from me. I did not think it wise of the fire and police board to remove Mrs. Likens from the position of police matron, and opposed it in every way I could. I have known Mrs. Kate Dwyer, the present matron, for a number of years. She called upon me frequently regarding the removal of Mrs. Likens, but I never gave her any encouragement and discouraged all propositions she made to this end."

What Waite Told Mrs. Love.

After Governor Waite left the stand the prosecution called some witnesses who could not be produced previously. Mrs. Dr. Love, a leading member of one of the local charity organizations of which Mrs. Likens is also a member, after reading the letter published by Mr. Mullins, casting reflections upon the character of Mrs. Likens, called upon Governor Waite and asked for the reasons for Mrs. Likens' removal. "He said," Mrs. Love testified, "the removal was not because she was a Republican but because of a letter which had been received compromising her character. The governor gave me a letter to Chief Armstrong requesting him to let me see the letter, but when I presented it the chief said he did not have the letter and sent me to Mr. Mullins."

Mullins Wouldn't Show the Letter.

"Mr. Mullins refused to show me the letter, but said it was very compromising and sufficient to cause Mrs. Likens' removal from office. The impression I arrived at from my conversation with Governor Waite, Mullins and Armstrong, was that the removal was made because of this letter and not for the purpose of cutting down expenses, as alleged by the police board."

J. Warner Mills, a leading Populist, was placed on the stand. He said he had known Mrs. Likens since childhood, and never before had he heard a single word spoken against her character. After reading the charges made by Dennis Mullins he went to the city hall to investigate.

Mullins in a pompous manner informed him that the letters and proofs in his possession showing up the character of Mrs. Likens were very strong but were not yet ready to be shown to the public. During his conversation with President Mullins, Mills said he charged him with bringing religious matters into this prosecution, and Mullins did not deny the charge.

But Where Is the Letter?

Chief of Police Armstrong was recalled for the purpose of contradicting the testimony of Mrs. Dr. Love, but failed to do so. Both sides then announced their case closed. And the curious thing is that the letter that caused all the trouble did not appear in evidence at all.

Attorney Sales, of counsel for defense, moved that the case be dismissed for want of jurisdiction. His motion was denied by the commissioner. The prosecution arraigned the accused most savagely, charging that Mrs. Kate Dwyer and President Mullins were the leading conspirators in the case, but that Chief of Police Armstrong and Governor Waite, in allowing themselves to be used in the carrying out of the purposes of these two, were equally guilty, whether they acted innocently or not. At the conclusion of the arguments Commissioner Hinsdale rendered his decision, which acquitted Governor Waite, as though he had read the letter he knew nothing of how it came into the possession of those who gave it to him.

The commissioner held the other defendants to the grand jury in $500 each. He did not blame Mrs. Dwyer for opening the letter, which was addressed on the envelope to "The Police Matron," but after she had opened it and found that it was addressed directly to Mrs. Likens she had no right to detain it, but should have immediately sent it to Mrs. Likens. The retention of the letter for some time by Mrs. Dwyer and the other two defendants, and its use to injure Mrs. Likens, was an offense that he would let the grand jury investigate further.

BOODLERY EXTRAORDINARY.

New Orleans Boudlers Seem To Be Experts in Their Line.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1.—An investigation into the city council boudlery in connection with railway franchises shows that three railways have paid the city $974,000 for their franchises, but an examination of the books of the companies shows that they have paid for the same franchises $2,780,000, the difference, presumably, representing what went into the pockets of the boudlers.

Big Deal in Paper Mills.

APPLETON, Wis., Sept. 1.—An English syndicate, represented by Frank Butterworth of Chicago, has practically closed a deal for the purchase of all the paper and pulp mills in Wisconsin. The mills in the deal number thirty-four, and the price agreed upon is $14,000,000. The transfer will be made on March 1.

Will Discuss Prison Government.

Notwithstanding that the knights are talking of making it impossible for a saloonkeeper to belong to the order the sellers of tanglefoot here are conspicuous for decorations that bristle all over with welcome. Over the door of every drinking place in the city there is a mammoth "Welcome, K. of P." When daylight fades away the sign, which is of canvas, is taken down, revealing a gas sign which is lighted for the guidance of the thirsty knights. The attractions do not seem, however, to draw as well as desired, as a saloonist was heard to remark with a note of bitterness in his voice: "Most of these yere knights brought one shirt and a $3 bill, and they haven't changed it, either."

BUTTERFLIES EARN $50,000.

How She Won the Fatality by the "Skin of Her Teeth."

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Fatality day at the Coney Island Jockey Club track was an ideal day for a summer outing, and about 25,000 people were present. It took fifty minutes to start the horses, but the start was a good one with Butterflies a head in front of California. The pace was hot. When the half mile post was reached Butterflies had a lead of two lengths. Agitation had come up to second place, and was a head in front of Commoisseur. Gutta Percha was fourth, and California fifth.

Butterflies' rider thought he had the race easily, when he heard a sound behind him, and looking back saw Brandywine coming like the wind. There was no time to waste, and Griffin began riding like a demon, but he could get very little more out of his mount, and Brandywine came along so fast that the filly only got over the line first by a head. The race between fifty yards longer Brandywine would have won. Time, 2:11. Aviator was third. The stake was worth $49,200 to the winner.

Perished by a Firebug.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 28.—John R. Booth, Canada's lumber millionaire, is evidently the victim of some evil-disposed parties. The work of an incendiary destroyed over 8,000,000 feet of lumber which he had piled ready for shipment for the American market. The loss is placed at $200,000. The insurance is about 60 per cent. of the whole. A public school, valued at $10,000, was also destroyed. A few weeks ago Mr. Booth had about $50,000 worth of lumber burned, and some months ago he had his fine sawmill, the best equipped in Canada and valued at $250,000, burned to the ground.

Caught a Bad Gang.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Four panel game workers, who are alleged to have robbed Thomas M. Sears, of Kansas City, while he was in Chicago, of $3,000 about three months ago, have been arrested here. They are known as William Raymond, alias Billy Rheinhart, 27 years old; Charles Belmont, alias Frank Stewart, aged 23; Kittle Raymond, alias Kitty Meyers, 25 years old, and Annie Belmont, alias Alice Stewart, aged 23.

President En Route Home.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—President Cleveland, en route to Gray Gables, arrived at the Pennsylvania station, Jersey City yesterday afternoon, and immediately went on board the Lighthouse tender John D. Rogers. The president left Washington at 7:20 a. m. He was accompanied by Secretary Linnott, Private Secretary Thurber and Dr. Bryant, his medical attendant.

Morton Is Favorably Inclined.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—After a conference between Thos. Platt and Levi P. Morton Platt stated that Morton would make a statement later, within a week. When asked whether Morton showed any inclination to become the standard bearer for his party as candidate for governor of the state Mr. Platt replied: "I think that he is favorably inclined."

J. D. Langosky, the cigar maker on the North Side, is making a new brand called, "Flor de Cuba," which cannot be too highly recommended.  —Jas. Tovey, Jr., was in the city on Thursday and hired between fifty and seventy-five young men and women to pick hops on his farm in the town of Stockton. They were a jolly crowd as they passed through Main street, seated in two large wagons.
 —C. E. Van Hecke is removing into the former Gottroy residence, corner of Elk and Brawley streets, which he recently purchased from Jos. E. Leonard. W. F. Anderson, chief clerk in Supt. Horn's office, now occupies the cottage on Strong's avenue vacated by Mr. Van Hecke.
 —Forty-five couples attended the dancing party given under the auspices of the Knights, Foresters and Hibernians, at their hall, last Thursday evening, and the good time was kept up until after three o'clock on Friday morning.  —See the advertisement of Schenk & Arenberg, the jewelers, announcing a removal sale. They must vacate their present quarters by the last of this month, at which time the owner of the structure, Mrs. O. Parmeter, will remove the building to the South Side. Miss Tack will then put up a one store brick building on the site, which will be occupied by this firm.
 —Louis Derosia, who has been employed at the Week Lumber Co. mill all summer, met with a painful accident last Wednesday, and one that will lay him up for some time. He was standing near the lath trimming saw, and in stepping back the fleshy part of the leg came in contact with the rapidly revolving saw, cutting a gash several inches long. Dr. von Neupert dressed the wound.
 —Fred. J. Carpenter, who has been in the office of Raymond, Lamoreux & Park for the past five years, will leave for Madison, next Saturday, to enter the senior law class in the State University. Fred. has spent more or less of his time in study, and has also had considerable of justice court experience in connection with his office duties, and expects to finish his studies and come forth a full fledged legal light one year hence. May success attend our young friend.
 —Miss Lucy Dougherty, a young lady who is well known in Stevens Point, having visited with her sister, Mrs. F. S. Nicholson, at various times in the past, was married to Ernest E. Serrine, at Thief River Falls, Minn., last week. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Jas. Meehan, Jr., and John Moylan was best man and Miss Grace Dougherty maid of honor. The groom is local agent for the Great Northern company at the place above mentioned. The many friends of the bride will join with THE GAZETTE in extending well wishes.

—A horse and buggy belonging to Mike Scanlan, of Buena Vista, was stolen at Amherst Junction, last Thursday night, but was found the next day, some distance away, where it had probably been driven by a couple of tramps, who were seen in the vicinity.
 —One of our best exchanges in commenting on the duties of a newspaper, says a newspaper should give to its party candidates the same support it receives from them. A man who does not contribute a cent toward the support of a paper till he is a candidate for office should not expect the editor to waste over $50 worth of space in booming him for the office.
 —Phillips, our northern neighbor, which was recently almost swept out of existence by fire, is building up again as fast as scores of workmen can handle lumber and brick. The two papers there, the Times and Bee, did not miss an issue after the fire, and now appear with complete new outfits. Judging from their advertising patronage, all lines of business are already well represented.
 —A barn belonging to H. Merryfield, of the town of Carson, together with the contents, was destroyed by fire last Sunday afternoon. The forests were all ablaze in that vicinity, and the fire originated from that source. Scores of farmers in Carson and Stevens Point were out most of the day and night fighting fires, having hard work to save their little homes and surroundings, and the rain of Monday afternoon was a relief of untold value.
 —The Portage County Fair will be held at Amherst on the 11th, 12th and 13th of this month, and promises to be at least equal to any held in the past. Good races will take place on the two last days, and among those who are expected on the last day are Gov. Peck and Col. Upham. Stevens Point always sends a large delegation to visit our neighbors, and this year the number will certainly be as numerous as ever before. Go down, see the attractions and have a good time.
 —Mr. and Mrs. David B. Dorrance, who reside at the corner of Washington and N. Center streets, are called upon to mourn the loss of their little son, John James, who passed away between 3 and 4 o'clock last Monday morning, after a short illness with summer complaint, aged 7 months and 1 day. This is the third child these parents have lost during the past few years. They have one left, a little girl, to comfort them in their sorrow. The funeral took place from St. Stephen's church at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.
 —There will not be a lack of candidates for the office of sheriff in Portage county this fall. For the Democratic nomination the names of Martin Moylan N. Gross, John Porter, John Leahy, Walter Campbell and John Petarski have been mentioned thus far, with probably others to hear from. The Republican nomination will not go begging, as at least four candidates have been spoken of. These are Moses Puarica, John Sellers, H. O. Halverson and Frank Pratt. As to the Democratic aspirants, more will be said in a future issue.
 —Two hundred and twenty-five people were on board the excursion train from Stevens Point which reached Green Bay shortly before 11 o'clock last Sunday morning. Of this number nearly sixty were from this city, and the others got on at different stations along the line. The day was pleasantly spent with boat rides on the bay, rides to the park and in other ways. On the return trip several cattle were run into, breaking the locomotive headlight and delaying the train for nearly an hour. The Amphion Musical Association, of this city, under whose auspices the excursion was given, made a few dollars on the undertaking.
 —It should be known by every person in the state of Wisconsin, and every other state, that it has been illegal since Aug. 28th for a storekeeper to sell a pack of playing cards without the same is properly stamped in accordance with the new tariff law, and a penalty of $50 is attached to a violation of the law. Many may not have heard of this new law, as cards are sold in the country stores, as well as by the city dealers, but circulars have been sent as broadcast as possible giving full instructions as to the use of the stamps. Every person who keeps these cards for sale is required to send a statement to the revenue collector or a deputy as to how many packs he had on hand Aug. 28. Deputies authorized to receive these statements are: W. H. Fitzgerald, Cedarburg; G. S. Luscher, Oshkosh; Patrick Clifford, Marinette; Peter Lochen, Newburg, and F. W. Harland, Waukesha.

GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT.
To Revive Memories of the War at Pittsburg.
REUNION OF A NATION'S HEROES.
A Peculiarly Fitting Place For the Meeting of the Veterans—Glance Into the Future—From Borderless Boyhood to Mature Age—Gossip About the Encampment.
[Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.]

The parade of the Grand Army of the Republic at Pittsburg on Sept. 11 may possibly be less imposing in point of numbers than some which have taken place in the past, especially those at Boston, Washington and Indianapolis, although Pittsburg lies in the center of a stretch of territory which furnished more than one-third of the soldiers of the war—the states of Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio. But whether the gathering be large or small the event is great in significance and in the suggestions for new ideas or the rearrangement of former ones which it brings with it. The anniversary is held upon soil peculiarly sacred to the cause represented at this gathering. Pennsylvania gave more sons according to her quota as a sacrifice to the god of battles than any other state in the Union. She stood on the border in 1861. She sent the first volunteer defenders to the imperiled capital in the crisis following Sumter. Her genius ruled in the national camps and councils, and within her limits, fair set among the charming hills of the Cumberland, lies the battlefield of Gettysburg. Cold must be the heart that will not respond bofitting the occasion and give the hour to gratitude and congratulation.

There remains little to be said of the sacrifices of the armies whose remnants shall march along Fifth avenue on Sept. 12. Four hundred thousand dead and a long procession of the stricken and maimed is the story the nation knows, alas, too well. But there is another side to the patriotism of the Union soldier that might be recalled today, a less gruesome one to dwell upon and a more noble one because it furnished the inspiration for those deeds of courage whose glory brightens as the years roll on. It would be an easy task to prove that the Grand Army, itself a body unique in the world's experience, is not due to military clanship nor to the protective union principle which is so active in this era. The genius of the Grand Army lived in the breasts of the soldiery in the war days, and the mind is almost startled to come upon such witnesses to the fact as this poem of Miles O'Reilly's, "The Song of the Soldiers," written in camp in 1862:

Comrades known in marches many,
Comrades tried in dangers many,
Comrades bound by memories many,
Brothers ever let us be.
Wounds or sickness may divide us,
Mating orders may divide us,
But our water fate be true,
Brothers of the heart are we.
Comrades known by faith the clearest,
Tried when death was near and nearest,
Bound we are by ties the dearest,
Brothers, comrades, let us be.
And if apured and growing older,
Shoulder still in line with shoulder,
And with hearts no thrill the colder,
Brothers ever we shall be.

By communion of the banner,
Green, white and sunny banner,
By the baptism of the banner,
Children of one church are we.
Creed nor faction can divide us,
Race nor language can divide us.
Still, whatever fate be true,
Children of the flag are we.

There is nothing of sordid selfishness nor of caste or guild exclusiveness breathing through those lines. No more were there to be found in the hearts of Stephenson and his colleagues, who in their bivouac in the southwest in 1864 dreamed out their magnificent scheme for perpetuating in peace the spirit of fraternity, charity and loyalty which characterized the soldiers in the field. The veterans' estimates of themselves are far too modest when they rest satisfied with enlogies upon their battlefield prowess and their heroic bearing under severest hardship, and if proximity to scenes so rich in war associations shall unloose the tongues of Commander in Chief Adams and his staff of orators at the encampment they may give to the careless yet responsive throngs of outsiders new cause to doff their hats to the Grand Army. They will tell us how the soldier set the pace for Union saviors in 1861 and how, by the guiding and shaping amid the storm and stress of civil war of these same men, the yocmanry, who filled the ranks as volunteers 30 years ago, this vast nation sprang into existence from an aggregation of states whose watchword until then both north and south had been state supremacy. They might give voice to the claim that the beardless boys, who, as far as time and Confederate bullets have spared them, will appear in the marching lines at Pittsburg, alone made the war possible, alone made possible those victories and results which the encampment, standing out as the exponent of the military spirit of the nation celebrates with due civic and military eclat. The war—that is, the war now held in memory, that which announces itself by cannon peal and the "clash of resounding arms"—would not have been commenced nor maintained but for their Spartan vim, their virile, aggressive, unswerving and unfaltering attitude when statesmen hesitated and civic leaders trembled; that the war was right and overwhelmingly right and must go on and that they would stand surety for its success.

Had there been no volunteer army with its blood up, no martyred Ellsworths and Bakers and Lyons and Winthrops appealing from their crimson shrouds with "lifeblood warm and wet," no Cushings and Ellets and Wordens and Morrises and Farraguts to tread the decks, and no Hancocks, no Warrens, no Uptons, no Custers and no Sheridans, with their firm battalions standing sword in hand, the war would have fizzled out in six months for lack of enthusiasm. This is history, and because the veteran when all was accomplished glided quietly back to his commonplace groove as a man and a neighbor, showing many of the weaknesses and foibles of the common mold, is no reason for losing sight of the grander part of him. A slice of Napoleon's high minded philosophy would suit the occasion.

"I remember nothing but Ansterlitz," he said when people complained to him truthfully that his old marshal, Soult, who had made Napoleon and France by his wonderful genius and valor on that field, was becoming ambitions and self important. "As he fought then think of him," and there will be no room for too familiar trifles to break the spell of distance.

THE G. A. R. IN THE FUTURE.
The veterans passed the half century point some years ago. How long will they remain upon the stage in sufficient numbers to give spirit to ceremonies commemorating the civil war? Twenty years from now we shall be celebrating the centennial of the victories at Lundy's Lane, Lake Champlain and Baltimore; also that of Jackson over Pakenham at New Orleans, and about that time the semicentennial of the closing battles of the civil war. Is it a daring assumption to presume that there will then be living twice as many Union veterans as there were boys in blue on any of the battlefields of 1861-5? There are good grounds for believing that such will be the case.

There were about 2,000,000 individuals recruited for the Union armies, of which number 800,000 (official figures) died in service, and at least 40,000 died after discharge during the war who are not included in the government statistics. At the close of the war, then, in 1865, there were living about 1,600,000 veterans averaging about 26 years of age. At the average rate for men in health the number would decrease in 30 years about 480,000, leaving 1,120,000 survivors in 1894. About four years ago the pension and Grand Army roles and the rosters of veteran associations showed 1,350,000 survivors, but part of the figures were not trustworthy, and a revision of them, together with the deaths of the past five years, has brought the number down to 1,000,000. In other words, there have been 600,000 deaths in 30 years, an increase of the usual mortality rate. But if there are only a million left, these being of advanced age and the mortality rate has been excessive thus far, does that argue against marshaling an army of them 20 years hence? Their average ages now are about 55. The death report of the departments of Michigan and New York for 1893 and of the national encampment for 1892 shows that the mortality rate is less than the average recognized by insurance actuaries.

The Michigan report for 20,000 veterans, averaging 55 years, showed a mortality of 15 to 1,000, that of New York a rate of 20 in 1,000 among 41,000, and the national report for 400,000 men, including inmates of soldiers' homes, presumably the least healthy of the survivors, a rate of 17 to 1,000. The average age of the veterans in 1894 is usually fixed at 55 by experts, and the rate of mortality for average men at that age is about 22 in 1,000. That the loss since the war has been excessive no one will dispute, but that naturally would occur in the decade following the soldiers' discharge. Men were discharged for wounds and diseases by the hundreds of thousands, and no doubt death claimed them within a few years at a rate three or four times greater than the average

"BOUND ARE WE BY THIS," for civilians. Over 200,000 men died from diseases in the army, and it must be supposed that the seeds of death were brought out of the army by tens of thousands of those discharged out of hospitals or prison parole camps.

As has been stated, the death rate is now much under the average for civilians, and the veteran at 55 or 56, or even at 57—which is probably the proper age to consider—all things being equal, has one chance in three of reaching 70 and of taking part in the double celebration of 1915, and each of the 200,000 or 300,000 alive at that date will have one chance in five of reaching the age of 86 as one of the 40,000 or 60,000 survivors

At the present time there is about one veteran in every 60 inhabitants, old and young, or in every 12 adult men, and at that late, if the population increases normally, there will be one to every 1,700 people or every 350 adult men—that is to say that in the average gathering of 350 men at a patriotic meeting or on election there will be one tottering veteran of 86 years. Not much chance for G. A. R. gatherings then, surely, except in the great cities. The record of longevity among the veterans of the war of 1812 and of the Mexican war sustains these calculations, and this thought has been carried still further by a writer in the Washington Post, who sees the dramatic and interesting climax a generation beyond that I have hinted at, or at the middle of the next century, with the centennial days of the Mexican war, the discovery of gold and the conquest of California. He says:

Herein are we admonished by unseen lips and innumerable voices that the day will come some time down when of all the Grand Army of the Republic, now year by year closing in their ranks around the graves of their departed comrades, there shall be but one survivor to stand lone watch at the portals of the "eternal camping ground."

It is an impressive if not bewildering thought. It carries us to a period when the millions of today shall be doubled, and when among the towering hosts busied with their own ambitions, confronted with new responsibilities, added in the light of new revelations, strangers, except through history, to the mighty events out of which so glorious a destiny was wrought, this solitary soldier shall be the sole reminder and incarnation, as it were, of the heroic age of the Union.

The war of the American Revolution closed in 1783. At that time a soldier belonging to the regiment of New York militia commanded by Colonel Marinus Willett, who has been four years in the army, was a young man of 23. Eighty-six years later, April 6, 1869, having reached the great age of 109, he was gathered to his heroic fathers at the town of Freedom (not inaptly named), Cattaraugus county, N. Y. His name was Daniel F. Bakeman, and he was the last of the Revolutionary pensioners under special act of congress.

The last of the Revolutionary pensioners on the regular roll was Samuel Downing of Saratoga county, N. Y., who enlisted as a private in 1781, when only 14, and died in 1867 at 101.

Only 21 years ago there walked among us one who bore a musket at the surrender of Cornwallis, yet lived to hear the tidings of the surrender at Appomattox! There is, however, no data, of course, on which to base exact foreknowledge of the time when there shall remain in the land of the living only a single soldier of the great armies that were disbanded in 1865, but it is not unreasonable to suppose that, even if none of the veterans of the war is spared to the extraordinary age of Daniel Bakeman, it will be reserved to some of them to turn the century point. If there is a soldier who, like Samuel Downing, was but 17 when discharged from the service, and lives to Downing's age, he will die in 1949. If 21 at the time of his discharge, and he lives to the livescore and nine of Daniel Bakeman, he will die in 1951. The chances are that the man who is destined to bear the proud but melancholy distinction of being the last survivor will not be living later than 1950.

And what a retrospect will he be standing upon this remote and isolated acclivity, he peoples the lazy distances of the past with armies and banners; with the great captains long since called to their reward; with the charge and countercharge of legions melting in the smoke of the conflict; with the sheeted dead that haunt vast battlefields; with the final blending into skies of blue the vanishing clouds of gray, the aftermath of glory, the grand review the grateful increase of peace and the line of march toward immortality, of which uncounted headstones are then the only traces, save his worn and weary self, waiting for the signal of welcome from the shining ramparts just above him!

Sixty years from today it may be, in some great cemetery of the nation's dead, or haply within some quiet churchyard, will be reared a mound of flowers over the grave the last survivor, for though he be a stranger among strangers, a wait upon the shore left by the receding tide, with not a comrade to bear him company, he will not be unattended. There will be sons of veterans, grandsons of veterans, daughters and granddaughters of veterans to guard his declining footsteps, to smooth his dying moments, sublimer far than those of Napoleon at St. Helena, to write his wondrous epitaph and over his ashes build a fitting monument.

Many and momentous may be the changes that our country in the evolution of its progress shall mean while witness. The flag that floats above us this morning in all its constellated splendor may gleam with other stars, transplanted to its azure field from both the northern and southern firmaments. New conditions may be developed to challenge the profoundest philosophy and bravest statesmanship of the age in their adjustment to an advancing civilization. Dangers that we wot not of may arise in the solution of social and economic problems to further tax the stability of our institutions. But in God's good providence the covenant of union, sealed with the blood of opulent self sacrifice, the fragrance of which ascends today from a hundred thousand altars, shall remain unbroken and immutable, like the bow of promise in its beauty, but like the overarching heavens themselves in its bending majesty and perennial duration.

The citizens of Pittsburg are to make an unusually lavish display of Old Glory during encampment week.

Louisville and Atlanta are striving after the encampment in 1895, in order, as they say, to "bridge the bloody chasm."

The Sons of Veterans and the national guardsmen, in full uniform, will act as guides to the visiting comrades in their travels about the city.

No tents at Pittsburg, says Commander in Chief Adams. The veterans average 55 years of age, and the older boys are just the ones who do not wish to miss an encampment nor come away with aches and pains. So the quarters will be in substantial barracks or in hotels, halls and private houses.

ITS ALD. HITCHCOCK NOW

Skinner Resigns His Seat.—Important Business at the Last Session of the Council.

Eleven aldermen were present at the monthly council meeting, last evening, which had been adjourned over from Monday evening on account of the latter day being a legal holiday. Ald. Skinner was the absent member. The first business of importance was the reading of a petition from Brown street residents to have sidewalks built along both sides of said street, from Prentice to North Second. A resolution accompanied the petition, ordering walks built as requested. Petition and resolution were referred to street committee.

Fayette Skinner, alderman from the Fifth ward, sent in resignation, and also withdrew an offer to sell the city a strip of land on which to place the 5th ward election booth. On motion of Ald. McCready the resignation was unanimously accepted.

A communication was read from C. R. Doty, setting forth that he was over 70 years of age; that he had been a resident of Stevens Point for twenty years, and asking the council to donate him the sum of $25.00 with which to purchase a ticket to Elmira, N. Y., where he has a son living, the latter promising to support his father after he arrives in New York. On motion of Ald. Brill the City Clerk was instructed to buy a ticket for Mr. Doty and also give him $5.00 to pay expenses.

A petition from Wm. Dowsett, L. C. Bronstadt and other residents on East avenue, was read, asking that street lights be placed at intersection of East avenue and Ellis street, and at intersection of East avenue and Oak street. Matter was referred to lighting committee.

An application for saloon license from John Okay, to conduct a retail liquor establishment at 219 N. Second street, was referred to license committee. Another application from Martin Bernklau, who wishes to dispense liquors, etc., in the Lutz House, was granted. Mieding & Co. and Taylor Bros. were given pharmacists' permits.

Notice was served on the council that L. P. Moen and J. E. Rogers appeal to the circuit court from a disallowance of their claims for service on the board of review. The amount of Mr. Moen's claim is $34.00, and Mr. Rogers' $20.00. The finance committee were instructed to act in conjunction with city attorney in this matter.

Stanislaus Balibozinski, whose son broke his leg while walking along Water street, July 19th last, asked the council to appropriate him the sum of $1,000 for loss of services, etc., of his boy. The son, Frank Balibozinski, also served notice on the city that he had been hurt on the date above mentioned, and claiming damages in the sum of $5,000. Ald. Baker, Brill and Maine were appointed a special committee to act with the city attorney on these claims.

The Chief of Police was instructed to have obstruction removed from that portion of Minnesota avenue, south of Patch street, within ten days.

In the matter of extending Reserve street north from its present terminus, a committee of aldermen reported prices for which necessary land can be bought, except in two instances, where no price would be given. It was decided to begin condemnation proceedings at once and the city clerk was instructed to issue necessary notices to property owners.

A new schedule of licenses was submitted by the committee appointed for that purpose, but after discussion the matter was referred back to same committee.

A report from the city and county surveyors in regard to surveys they had made along certain streets, was read and adopted.

Mayor Clark announced names of ballot clerks and inspectors of election, and the same was accepted.

The finance committee of the Board of Education reported that it would be necessary to raise $27,000 to carry on the city schools next year. Moved by Ald. McCready that the communication be accepted and placed on file, which motion was lost. The mayor then referred matter to finance committee.

Council then proceeded to the election of an alderman in the 5th ward, to fill vacancy. J. J. Hitchcock received 7 votes and J. A. Ennor 4. The first named was declared elected.

The village of Prentice wished to purchase our fire engine, but the council thought it unwise to sell. Committee on fire department were authorized to purchase 500 feet of hose.

The mayor and clerk were instructed to draw a city order for $500, in payment of hook and ladder truck, after the same arrived and had been accepted. C. H. Grant stated that he had applications from twenty or more young men who wished to join hook and ladder company, and recommended that sufficient rubber coats and hats be purchased.

Committee on fire department were authorized to purchase lumber wagon for Co. No. 1. Ald. Brill and Maine were given power to purchase horse and harness for the new hook and ladder truck, which will arrive here within next few days.

Mayor Clark appointed Ald. Brill, Maine and Baker a committee to secure options on a site for a new city hall. On motion of Ald. Maxwell it was unanimously decided that the city needs an additional police officer, and another man will no doubt be appointed by the mayor within a day or two. His honor was authorized to purchase 25 or 50 cords of slab wood, after which the council adjourned.

Hos. Thos. LYNCH was nominated for congress by the Democrats of the 9th district, at Merrill, yesterday, he receiving 33 votes, to 17 cast for W. W. O'Keefe.

As a rule, all democrats who really believe in tariff reform, and there are few, very few, who do not, strongly commend President Cleveland's letter to Mr. Catchings, and predict that it will do more to keep the democrats in control of the House than any one document that will be a factor in the campaign.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND does not intend to return to Washington until October, unless something of great public importance now unforeseen shall make it necessary for him to do so. In the meantime no public business will be neglected, as he has arranged to have all matters requiring his official attention forwarded to Gray Gables, where with assistance of private secretary Thurber, an executive office will be maintained.

WHAT a good many people would like to know is this: If Mr. Minor should be elected to congress, would he vote to relieve oppressed labor from the burden of paying pensions to able-bodied men, in fairly well to do circumstances, like himself for example? Or, would he vote to continue his pension, notwithstanding his undiminished ability to work, his comparative wealth, and his salary of $5,000 a year? Which, in his opinion, would make the pension list a roll of honor?—Door County Democrat.

The following patents were granted to Wisconsin inventors, as reported by Benedict & Morsell, Solicitors of Patents, 102 Wisconsin street, Milwaukee: Lynde Bradley, Milwaukee, electrically operated wind vane; Edwin Catwright, Milwaukee, blast feeding apparatus for furnaces; Frank Kemp-smith, Milwaukee, universal head for milling machines; Israel Lemieux, Fond du Lac, wooden shovel; James McNaughton, Waukesha, water service system for railway trains; Edward Nolon, Wausau, packing box; Frederick E. Schmitt, Milwaukee, polishing cylinder for sandpapering machines.

THE people should remember that the McKinley politicians attributed their defeat in 1890 to the lies which the Democrats told about the McKinley tariff which went into effect a month before the election. With that as a warning, says the Milwaukee Journal, the people should watch for Republican lies concerning the tariff which has just now become a law. Lies may answer a temporary purpose, but their effect cannot be made permanent. The verdict of the people two years after the McKinley act took effect was much more emphatic against it than the first one was, and simply because the more the people had of it the worse they found it. The new tariff will take care of itself until it can be made more Democratic. Let the organs lie about it if they choose. They will but convict themselves.

The Destroying Element.

While Chas. Baltz, wife and family were some distance from their home, in the town of Linwood, engaged in fighting forest fires, on Sunday last, they were horrified on looking in the direction of their residence to see that it was ablaze. Before they could reach the house the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be saved. The fire then spread to the barn and other buildings, destroying everything in its path, and the owners were unable to save any of their property. A number of hogs also perished in the fire. Mr. Baltz, who is one of the early residents of Linwood and a well-to-do farmer, carried an insurance of $1,800 with the Stockton Insurance Co., but his loss will no doubt be much more than this sum. The fire came from the woods.

Michael Grotzski, of the town of Stevens Point, lost his dwelling and contents on Friday last, the origin of this fire being the same as the one above mentioned. By hard work his barn and other buildings were saved. Grotzski carried an insurance of $700 on the property destroyed with the Stockton Insurance Co.

M.

ROBT SCHILLING, the well known political agitator, spoke to a small audience at the Central City Opera House, in this city, last Friday evening. His address was in the interest of the People's party movement, and while he did not say anything very hard against either of the old parties, it contained too much gush and illuminatory improbabilities to have much weight upon the average thoughtful mind. Schilling claims to be laboring in the interest of the working man, but before he had finished his talk it was quite evident that he was out for Bob. Schilling and his paper, the Labor Advocate. He remarked that he is often called an anarchist, but paid no attention to the same. His bitter denunciation of the authorities and militia for their action during the recent trouble in Chicago, proved him an anarchist beyond question, and this alone should condemn him in the mind of any well meaning person, without regard to his political affiliation.

Stump Lodge No. 255, I. O. O. F.

Again we are reminded that, in the midst of life we are in death, and that sorrow and affliction may invade our homes at any moment. In such event it is but meet and proper to show that we feel the sorrow and affliction with the brother, who has through an all wise Providence sustained an irreparable loss. It is therefore

Resolved, That Stump Lodge No. 255, tenders to brother F. Stieler the most heartfelt sympathy and mourns with him the loss of a most devoted and loving wife and mother.

Resolved, That in the dark hours of grief and sorrow we would remind our brother that it was directed by the hand of Him "who doeth all things well," and whilst we fully realize the serious loss, we must console ourselves in thought that it was her gain, and that she is gone to a sphere where there is no suffering and pain.

Resolved, That the above be spread on the minutes of this lodge, a copy under the lodge seal forwarded to brother F. Stieler, and published in the city papers.
